

Bank of Bermuda Foundation delivers a truck load of goods

(Hamilton, Bermuda, 28 December, 2007) Bank of Bermuda Foundation have partnered with Butterfield and Vallis to donate turkeys and a container load of grocery items to the Hands of Love Ministry who, in turn, are distributing the goods to over 500 disadvantaged families around the Island who are in need of cheer.

Every year, Bank of Bermuda Foundation donates funds to organisations whose aim is to help and support disadvantaged members of our community. While this may be the time of year for giving, the Foundation is eager to support causes that continue to give beyond the holiday season. The substantial donation will enable the Hands of Love Ministry to continue providing meals and food to the homeless and needy beyond the holiday season and into April.

Director and Secretary of the Bank of Bermuda Foundation, David Lang noted, “The Hands of Love Ministry has been very active within the community, helping those in need and we hope that with the help of our donation, they can continue to carry out their valuable works. By partnering with Butterfield and Vallis we are able to donate funds in a different way – in this case via a truck load of groceries.”
